

Women in England to receive contraceptive pills at pharmacies

From next month women in England can get their contraceptive pills without contacting their GP first.