

Women in the Workforce during the Second World War: Taking on Men's Roles

With hundreds of thousands of men away fighting during the Second World War, labour shortages became acute. Women were needed to fill men's roles. Read more