

World leading Animal and Plant Health Agency celebrates ten-year anniversary

The Animal and Plant Health Agency (APHA) is today (1 October) celebrating a decade of its world-leading efforts to safeguard both animal and plant health on the domestic and international stage.