

You cannot separate North Korea's human rights violations from the threat it poses to international peace and security: UK statement at the UN Security Council

Statement by UK Permanent Representative Ambassador Barbara Woodward at the UN Security Council meeting on North Korea.