

Young people, especially women and girls, should be meaningfully included in discussions that affect their futures: UK statement at the UN Security Council

Statement by Ambassador Barbara Woodward at the UN Security Council meeting on security challenges in the Mediterranean.