

Youths find path to city forestry

The Urban Forestry Support Fund offers study sponsorships and training allowances through two schemes to encourage youngsters to join the arboriculture and horticulture industry.

News.gov.hk spoke to the schemes' beneficiaries and the Development Bureau's Tree Management Office Head to learn how the schemes boost youth participation in the industry and uplift professional standards.

The story is available at www.news.gov.hk/eng/feature today (April 25) in text and video format.